Every day in the United States, millions of people access the internet; for work, for business, and for pleasure. Kids as young as 9 and 10 are accessing the internet now, to play online games and access popular social sites such as MySpace and Facebook. Modern day companies and organizations can no longer afford to not take advantage of such a powerful and popular sales tool. At TCS, it's our desire to not only to design beautiful, aesthetic, functional online homes, but to help you with every aspect of having such a site. We have years experience marketing, developing, and maintaining professional websites. eCommerce? No problem. Drive hordes of visitors to your site? Done. Make the entire site automated and easy to use and maintain? Hey, why not. We'll even host your sites on our mission-critical level hosting platform. It's all a matter of what you need, and we certainly won't charge you for something you don't.

Only interested in webhosting? That's fine too. Just contact sales, and we'll setup a package custom for you.

Graphic design is no longer something that can be trusted with amateurs. Gone are the days when a futuristic looking design was all it took to drive sales. Technology has advanced to the point where consumers are no longer as impressed with any old design; the work has to be aesthetically pleasing, deliver a clear message, and do so while targeting a specific demographic. TCS understands the level of research and skill it takes to deliver a good design, and we're confident you won't ever be disappointed. We handle logos, corporate identity packages, brochures, business cards, movie posters, album covers, t-shirts, marketing materials, banners, and more. And we work closely with a group of hand-selected printers and manufacturers to save you valuable time and money on print-based work.

It's now almost impossible to go anywhere on the web without seeing some sort of marketing. Whether it be for a product, service, or a huge corporation trying to improve it's brand awareness, the internet has become one of the cheapest and most effective marketing mediums. Unfortunately, this has led to an overcrowded market, and it can often be difficult to deliver your message when there are so many others vying for your target audience's attention. TCS understands this and has been conducting online marketing experiments, user surveys, and demographic research for years; constantly improving and perfecting strategies that are then tested and put to use on several of our marketing division's independent websites targeted at youth, middle-income families, the elderly, and numerous other demographics. TCS even has plans to launch a completely new service in late 2007 that will completely redefine the way marketing is done.

No matter what it is that you need marketed, we can do it in a timely, cost-effective manner that will reach your target audience and increase your bottom line.

All of our services come with several hours of free consulting and expert advice. Period. We can't expect you to know how to do our job any more than you can expect us to know how to do yours. That's why you hired us in the first place, right?

There are some scenarios when a client may require additional consulting outside of the scope of the project, in which case we are always more than willing to accommodate in whatever way we can for a nominal fee (assuming it's within our field of expertise, of course). Also, clients that aren't in need of our other services but would still like the expertise of our professionals can feel free to utilize our consulting services at our standard rate, with no obligation to purchase services from us, ever.
